

Application No. 09/829,082
Amendment dated May 10, 2004
Reply to Office Action of December 10, 2003
Docket No. 8014-1030

APPENDIX:

The Appendix includes the following item(s):

- an amended Abstract of the Disclosure

Application No. 09/829,082
Amendment dated May 10, 2004
Reply to Office Action of December 10, 2003
Docket No. 8014-1030

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

--An information recording apparatus for recording content information on an information recording medium ~~comprises~~ includes a main information recording area on which main information to be reproduced is recorded, and a plurality of content information recording areas on which content information to be reproduced to indicate contents of the main information is recorded. The apparatus ~~comprises~~ includes a recording device, a confirming device and a control device. The recording device records the content information on a part of the plurality of content information recording areas. The confirming device confirms a recording result of the content information thus recorded. The control device controls the recording device, only when the recording result is confirmed to be successful, so that content information that is identical with the content information recorded on the part of the content information recording areas can be recorded on the other part of the content information recording areas.--